The War Today..

THE war in Germany, it may be called that, has reached the point today where Nazi activity has little further meaning.

Continued resistance by fanatics in the "surrendered" area of Austria makes it clear that the mop-up must be continued, as it probably will have to be continued even after any general surrender order or V-E proclamation.

A general surrender order would be welcome for the effect it might have on the wavering, for the long-time standpoint, it probably would be as well if the last-ditch Nazis never surrendered, but stand to be wiped out. Just as well if war's destruction is spread so that no German can live more than a walking distance from a shell-torn reminder of what happens to those who place their faith in false leaders. Just as well that war's explosive calling cards be left in the ruins of Bavaria and the Sudetenland of Czechoslovakia as in the Ruhr and East Prussia.

So the activities of Admiral Doenitz, Werner Best and the other conquerors in Copenhagen, if they really are there, are of more interest than significance.

But it is very satisfying to hear that the remnants of the Nazi overlordship now operate from the territory of a little neighbor against whom their might was powerless, Karl Doenitz, successor to Der Fuehrer, to the world, master of the master race, scorned by the newspapers who once again sell non-Nazi papers on the streets of Copenhagen.

Which reminds me that the world's greatest presses were unable to meet the demand for newspapers in New York yesterday afternoon. Newspaper after newspaper was forced to say, sadly, "sorry, expect more soon. They're going like hot cakes."

Though the significance of the news was gone, the issue decided, a people watched closely the manner of the arrival of their victory.

Snatched From Death In Nazi Prison, Salem Boy Recovering

The sight of his left eye gone and his general physical condition so run down that he must lie in bed in an army hospital overseas until his strength returns, Staff Sgt. Walter F. Hiltbrand of Salem is making an uphill fight to recover from the effects of imprisonment in one of the German "hell hole" prison camps.

The 29-year-old infantryman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hilt-brand of 663 Fair ave., has written his parents to tell them of some of his harrowing experiences. Wounded in the head by a machine-gun bullet which fractured his skull, the Salem boy told of how he worked, starved and miraculously came out alive. He saw many of his fellow soldiers die.

3 Hours To Write Letter

Because he is so weak, it took Sgt. Hiltbrand three hours to write the five page letter. "To tell you the truth," he wrote, "it's all I can do to grip this pencil and write. My legs are in the same fix. They won't hold me up when I try to walk, so all I do is lie here in bed and listen to the radio. "It sure does sound good to hear music again. Even songs that I used to dislike sound wonderful to me. Once in a while I can even enjoy Frank Sinatra. I never thought I would get to the point where I'd miss music so much that I'd like him. However, Bing (Crosby) is still tops with me."

Hiltbrand, when visited in England recently by his brother, Bill, who is stationed there, learned that the enemy had never reported him to be a prisoner. He was captured Dec. 16 during the battle of the Belgium bulge when the German army, then directed by Gen. Von Rundstedt, launched an attack that drove the Americans back and inflicted many casualties.

"I was surprised most to learn that the Krauts hadn't ever notified our government that I was a P. W. (prisoner of war). But that sounds like those Heinies — now that I really know them. They told me the letter I wrote in January would reach you within a month."

U. S. Casualties On Island Are 16,964, Including 2,978 Dead

(By Associated Press)
GUAM, May 4.—American troops are smashing with new fury against the powerful natural defense belt of the Japanese southern Okinawa front. Both sides are bringing heavy guns to bear.

From caves, tunnels and interlocking pillboxes, the enemy is fighting back with artillery and mortar fire on a front so mixed up that a Japanese pocket, behind American lines, is harassing with night infiltrations.

The Okinawa campaign, including pre-invasion fleet attacks on Japan proper, has cost 16,964 American casualties. Of these 2,978 were killed.

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz today reported total Navy casualties through Wednesday were 5,551, including 1,131 killed, 2,816 wounded and 1,604 missing.

Opposition Is Greater

American casualties for the entire Okinawa-Ryukyus operation are considerably lower than the figure for conquest of Iwo Jima, for a comparable period, although the 10th army faces nearly three times as many enemy ground troops in the current operation.

Ground casualties on Okinawa through April 25 total 11,413. Iwo's 26-day battle cost was 19,338 casualties, including 4,189 killed.

Japanese casualties on Okinawa through April 25 were 21,269 killed and 399 captured of an estimated 60,000 garrison. Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., commander of the 10th army, said several thousand Japanese increased enemy casualties to an estimated 30,000.

Nimitz announced four small Japanese aerial attacks sank two "light units" and inflicted "some damage" to American forces off Okinawa last night. Seventeen enemy raiders were shot down.

RAISE $8,000 FUND FOR IMPROVEMENTS TO MEMORIAL BLDG.

Public contributions totaling $8,000 have made possible a program of repairs at the Memorial building.

Solicitation of funds was started last December and plans have now been made to use the money for the following purposes:

New and adequate toilet facilities; repair and modernize kitchen facilities; install stokers to improve and reduce cost of heating; paint interior and exterior of building and improve grounds; repair floors and other general repairs and improvements.

Through President R. F. White and Manager Joe M. Kelley, the board of directors announced these plans today.

The building, used by thousands of people, young and old, each year, has been in need of repair for some time. Income from operating expenses is not sufficient to cover repair and maintenance.

TEMPLARS TO HAVE ASCENSION SERVICE

Ascension day will be observed by Salem commandery, Knights Templar, with a service in the Masonic temple next Thursday.

Reichtag Fails To Yield Hitler's Body, Soviets Say

BY EDDIE GILMORE

MOSCOW, May 4.—The chancellor of the third Reich in the Wilhelmstrasse has failed to yield the body of Hitler and now the building is burning, a Red Star dispatch from the German capital said today.

The disclosure that the chancellor where Hitler had his offices was ablaze indicated it might Elond Vysokostrovsky and Pavel Troyanovsky gave graphic pictures of Berlin after the surrender.

"Ruins, craters, smashed streets, street cars on their sides, fresh graves, German bodies still not be difficult ever to prove that the Fuehrer committed suicide along with propaganda Minister Goebbels, as the Germans report.

The statement that the bodies were not found in the building, however, indicated that it had been searched, and strengthened the theory that Hitler did kill himself. It was not in the chancellery, Soviet correspondents reported how they, with Soviet soldiers, entered the building and found dead German machinegunners with iron crosses.

Flames Sweep Buildings

"Hitler's chancellery is hot," said a Red Star reporter. "The fire is getting closer. The floor is burning and at any moment it will fall. In the smoke and flame it is impossible to see much."

Goering's air ministry likewise was ablaze. The dispatch said "it is impossible to get into it, but the gigantic shelter is intact."

Flames still licked at other buildings, and in the Tiergarten trees cracked and swayed in the heat blasts.

Izvestia's correspondent said: "I have been asking the question 'where is Hitler?' of German prisoners. They all answer 'Hitler and Goebbels committed suicide'."

British Halt At Kiel Canal

[BULLETIN]

PARIS, May 4.—Gen. Eisenhower announced today that all enemy forces in Holland and northwestern Germany and Denmark, including Helgoland and the Frisian islands, have surrendered, effective at 8 a. m. (2 a. m., Salem Time) tomorrow.

It leaves as the only German forces of any size still offering resistance the armies in southeastern Germany, northern Austria and Czechoslovakia and the garrison of Norway.

The wholesale surrender in the north followed the capture of 500,000 German troops in Montgomery's territory in the last 48 hours.

PARIS, May 4.—The British drive toward Denmark halted abruptly today just short of the Kiel canal in Germany, possibly to await the surrender of Nazi troops garrisoned in that kingdom.

The American Seventh army joined the Fifth-army 10 miles deep in Italy in the Brenner Pass after capturing Innsbruck and Salzburg. The American Third army besieged Linz, invaded Bohemia, outflanked Pilsen and the Skoda works and neared a junction with the Russians west of Vienna which would bisect the southern German pocket.

A wholly unconfirmed enemy broadcast said hostilities had ceased in western Holland, where a truce was in effect allowing the Canadian First army to feed Dutch civilians through German lines.

The Kiel canal is 38 miles south of the Danish peninsula. Earlier Swedish reports said the British Second army—which captured 500,000 of the routed enemy in the last two days—had invaded that kingdom. The Germans proclaimed Kiel and Flensburg open cities and indicated their fall was near.

One unconfirmed report from the Swedish newspaper Aftonbladet said it was believed Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz was negotiating with Field Marshal Montgomery at Flensburg for surrender.

What Germans survived the catastrophe in the north were attempting a hurried land and sea flight toward the uncertain refuge of Norway.

The Seventh army of Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch joined Lt. Gen. Lucian Truscott's victorious Fifth army at Vlipteno in the Brenner Pass 10 miles south of the snow-heaped Italian frontier.

The Seventh army captured

German Troops Surrender By Thousands

Half a million Germans had surrendered in 48 hours to the British Second army and at least three attached American divisions in the north.

The Germans who had not surrendered north of fallen Hamburg were in chaotic flight by land and sea toward Norway, where the shadowy Doenitz regime may make its last stand about the bases of the submarines the admiral once commanded.

Planes and tanks and artillery all turned the German flight into a debacle of burning ships and wrecked land transport. Diehard Nazis were driven into the sea.

The enemy's front in the north had dissolved in chaos. Germans who did not surrender were driven into the sea and whipped by shells

Americans Approach Soviets Near Vienna

Gen. Patton's Third army besieged Linz from positions five miles away and was reported in Moscow dispatches to be within 10 miles of Russian patrols west of Vienna.

A meeting would cut the Germans in the south into a northern pocket including the unconquered part of Czechoslovakia and a southern trap including eastern Austria and northwest Yugoslavia.

The Third army plunged into Bohemia and outflanked the great Skoda munitions works at Pilsen, reaching points 44 miles to the southeast.

Lt. Gen. Kurt Von Manteuffel whose grandfather was occupation general in Paris in 1870, surrendered in the north. His last command was the Third Panzer army.

Gen. Von Tippelskirch, whose 21st army was cut to shreds by the Russians before it reached British lines in the north, also entered a prison cage.

Swedish reporters told of large scale German efforts to ferry troops from Denmark into Norway. Sweden lies just across the Kattegat and Skagerrak from those kingdoms.

A British naval officer said the Nazis had stocked Norway with supplies for two years and with troops dominated by SS fanatics. This indicated the Germans planned to abandon Denmark and either fight in Norway or use it and its submarine bases as an asset in surrender dealings.

One unconfirmed report said British troops were in the Danish border town of Aabenraa. Most of the Germans in flight appeared to be trying to reach Norway through the northeast Danish port of Aarhus.

German Troops Surrender By Thousands

Half a million Germans had surrendered in 48 hours to the British Second army and at least three attached American divisions in the north.

The Germans who had not surrendered north of fallen Hamburg were in chaotic flight by land and sea toward Norway, where the shadowy Doenitz regime may make its last stand about the bases of the submarines the admiral once commanded.

Planes and tanks and artillery all turned the German flight into a debacle of burning ships and wrecked land transport. Diehard Nazis were driven into the sea.

The enemy's front in the north had dissolved in chaos. Germans who did not surrender were driven into the sea and whipped by shells

Americans Approach Soviets Near Vienna

Gen. Patton's Third army besieged Linz from positions five miles away and was reported in Moscow dispatches to be within 10 miles of Russian patrols west of Vienna. A meeting would cut the Germans in the south into a northern pocket including the unconquered part of Czechoslovakia and a southern trap including eastern Austria and northwest Yugoslavia.

The Third army plunged into Bohemia and outflanked the great Skoda munitions works at Pilsen, reaching points 44 miles to the southeast.

Lt. Gen. Kurt Von Manteuffel whose grandfather was occupation general in Paris in 1870, surrendered in the north. His last command was the Third Panzer army.

Gen. Von Tippelskirch, whose 21st army was cut to shreds by the Russians before it reached British lines in the north, also entered a prison cage.

Swedish reporters told of large scale German efforts to ferry troops from Denmark into Norway. Sweden lies just across the Kattegat and Skagerrak from those kingdoms.

A British naval officer said the Nazis had stocked Norway with supplies for two years and with troops dominated by SS fanatics. This indicated the Germans planned to abandon Denmark and either fight in Norway or use it and its submarine bases as an asset in surrender dealings.

One unconfirmed report said British troops were in the Danish border town of Aabenraa. Most of the Germans in flight appeared to be trying to reach Norway through the northeast Danish port of Aarhuus.

The Test

The letdown after Germany's defeat, if there is going to be one, must happen soon. The problem that has been approaching since last fall has arrived. The fact is, it already is being dealt with at the production level of the national war effort.

In what is generally known of its aspects at that level, it is a problem of adjusting what the masses of the people believe to what their government wants them to believe. Last fall, when it was popularly believed that the crisis in the European war had been passed—because there had been official statements to that effect—great numbers of Americans began to make their individual adjustments on that basis. Everything done since then to obtain manpower where it was needed has been done in order to avert a natural consequence of the people's opinion.

The government's responsibility now is to prevent a recurrence of official misinformation, like that of last fall. As the only official source of war news and as the monitor of all information coming from the Pacific, it must make the people aware of military needs. In short, if the public is given the truth, it will find its own way. That is the theory of democracy. It works. It has worked throughout the war. It will work until Japan's defeat has been chalked up with Germany's and Italy's.

There has been nothing to gain at any stage of the war by blaming Americans for failing to do what they were not conditioned to do by the information they were given. That has been one of the mistakes of war leadership; in many instances, the people had a clearer conception of their responsibilities than the officials who berated them. The continuation of the war now, with Germany pacified, will be a test not only of the people who must acquit themselves of their wartime responsibilities, but also of their leadership. If the picture is kept in clear focus, there will be no misunderstanding—no letdown out of proportion to the lightened responsibility that follows Germany's collapse.

The Great Exponents

The world needs time to understand the implications of events that have removed three of the five best known exponents of our time—Franklin D. Roosevelt, Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini.

It was Mr. Roosevelt's destiny to be one of the two foremost exponents of opposition to European fascism. In this role he was to be buttressed later, first by Prime Minister Churchill, later by Joseph Stalin.

If further events now were to remove the two survivors of the quintet who stood at the head of the clashing forces which have made history since 1939, transition from known to unknown exponents would be one of the most abrupt ever known. As it is, comprehension must struggle to get abreast of the fact that Mr. Roosevelt has died, Mussolini has been executed and Hitler either has died, been murdered, or has fled.

No one foresaw so sudden a change of symbols. In some respects, the symbol almost has become the actuality. Men spoke of fighting Hitler, when they meant Germany. They confused Mussolini with the authoritarian philosophy he preached. And in many parts of the world—and including our own country—there were people who looked upon Franklin D. Roosevelt as the hope of the oppressed, instead of the exponent of that hope, which resided in the principles of the United States.

The press and radio are probably not more aware than the public they serve that within a few brief weeks three names used more often than any others henceforth will be mentioned only in reference to the past. It is a change so abrupt that it scarcely can be realized. Perhaps it is lucky that there is so little time to try to realize how rapidly events are happening. Historians will be able to do a better job from a safe distance.

Germany's Collapse

The formal surrender of all German forces in Italy and southern Austria points the way. Though it was done before Hitler's disappearance, it fore-shadows the ultimate decision of other professional militarists. Gen. Karl von Rundstedt has arranged to be captured. Nothing is heard of the second-flight Nazi; their fate is indeterminate. Admiral Doenitz is no substitute for the "Fuehrer"—least of all is he a substitute in the eyes of the German army, whose allegiance was sworn to Hitler personally, not to the admiral of a discredited navy.

What we are witnessing in Germany through a curtain of confusion and chaos is the answer to the question: What happens when an absolute dictator is removed from a police state—a dictator bestow his power on a successor? The answer is no.

There are Germans who will continue to resist invasion because they love their country. There are Nazis who will fight to the end because they have only execution to look forward to if captured. But Germany's collapse must follow the disappearance of Hitler. It is not only a war the Germans have lost, but a system of government which had no provision in it for perpetuation.

A DAY of so-called "mixed influences" is noted astrologically, although it is more than likely to be a day long remembered and of far-reaching significance in shaping the future destiny and fortunes. With a strange, novel or radical idea of proposition stimulating to revolutionary activities, of up-rooting if not devastating importance, with sudden change and unlooked-for adventure, it is likely that a policy of secrecy, solitude or of "going it alone" may bring highest results. However, secret agreements with those in influential positions, or tacit, even intriguing, understandings may further such singular objectives. Intuitions or inner leads should be practically formulated.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of unusual, unforeseen or unpredictable adventures or experiences, uprooting the fastness of business, career or personal life, in a dramatic or bewildering manner. An extraordinary idea, constructive although inspired, might bring this about.

Some brilliant coup might be most successfully accomplished by a system of secrecy, subtlety or intrigue, where plans and agreements had best be confined only to those sincerely cooperative or trustworthy. Romance and adventure should be among these dramatic enterprises, with travel, change or perhaps public recognition.

A child born on this day may be endowed with special talents or skills, with ingenuity and patience to develop them against opposition—eventually enjoying romance, adventure and "the limelight."

Closing?

Reports from New York hint that that city's oldest "comedy-drama" may be closing soon. We don't refer to the six-season-old "Life With Father" or the Center theater's perennial ice show, but to a production now in its twelfth year.

It is known variously as "Life With the Little Flower" and "The Follies of Fiorello." The star is His Honor, Mayor F. H. LaGuardia. And the rumor is that the closing notice may be put up between now and next fall's municipal elections.

Of course, Mr. LaGuardia is a veteran trooper, and a clever one. And there are still customers out front who cheer lustily no matter what the critics say about the performance. He has played scenes in the past in which the applause drowned out the hisses. So he can't be counted out. Yet political experts say that, bereft of Republican and Democratic support, his chances grow slimmer every day.

The Little Flower is a colorful mayor of a colorful city, and a source of vivid news for the whole country. If he goes he'll be missed both for his shenanigans and the high caliber of his administration. For even those who resent his temperament and name-calling, who charge him with being dictatorial and gotistical, admit that he's been honest and, as New York mayors go, efficient.

Sick Europe

Incomplete information from Europe, analyzed by Metropolitan Life Insurance company experts, indicates that among that continent's worst postwar problems will be the rehabilitation of public health.

Tuberculosis is rampant in Germany it is up at least a third, in Paris and Brussels about a half, in the Netherlands even more, and in Rome tuberculosis deaths last year were over twice those of 1940. The disease is epidemic in Greece.

Typhus, cerebro-spinal meningitis and scarlet fever are high in Germany; perhaps 70 per cent of the Greeks have malaria; diphtheria in Germany is up about 50 per cent and throughout western Europe it is at peak levels.

Now comes a 25 per cent reduction in sugar rations. Maybe we ought to just go and have that sweet tooth pulled.

Development In Toxic Goitre Treatment

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

SOME time ago we wrote in these columns of the advantage of a new treatment for toxic goitre using a drug known as thiouracil. Readers will remember that we stated at that time that in toxic goitre there is an excessive secretion of thyroid extract by the thyroid gland, which is located in the front part of the neck.

This extra secretion produces such symptoms as loss of weight and strength, rapid heart beat, increased sweating, diarrhea, tremor and in some instances (when the condition has been present for some time) protrusion of the eyes, known as exophthalmos.

Just what causes toxic goitre has not as yet been determined. The condition is a serious one and if allowed to persist, may result in permanent damage to the heart, nervous system and other parts of the body.

Different Reactions
Until recent times, surgical removal of most of the thyroid gland was accepted as the best treatment for toxic goitre. In certain instances, X-ray and radium have been employed, and in milder cases the giving of iodine, together with complete rest and the use of various sedative or nerve-quieting drugs, was somewhat successful.

Some patients treated with iodine and rest do seem to improve to such an extent that operation is not required. In other words, the disease seems to just get better. On the other hand, many patients treated in this way for too long a time suffer such extensive damage to the tissues that they succumb to infections or become mental or physical wrecks.

The thiouracil treatment now seems to be well established. It is not known exactly how the drug works. However, it would appear probable that it prevents the union of a substance known as tyrosine and an amino acid which comes from protein foods, and iodine, which is necessary in the formation of thyroxin. Previously we have told our readers that thyroxin is the active substance in the secretion formed by the thyroid gland under normal conditions.

Dr. Adolph M. Nussey of Birmingham, England, reports the results in the treatment of twenty-seven patients with toxic goitre, using thiouracil. The treatment was carried out for periods varying from three weeks to twelve months. Good results were obtained in all instances but one, and in this patient the disease had been present for years before treatment with thiouracil was started.

Dr. Nussey thinks that all patients suffering from toxic goitre should be treated with thiouracil. It is administered three times a day for the first three to five weeks, after which time the dose is gradually reduced, and is kept at the lowest possible level to maintain the patient's well-being.

If the patient does not respond quickly to the treatment, the dose of thiouracil should not be increased beyond a safe limit. The patient must be kept under the constant supervision of the physician so that any reactions which may develop may be noted promptly, and the dose of the preparation reduced.

It is Dr. Nussey's opinion that treatment with thiouracil is much safer than operation and that perhaps treatment with this drug may completely supplant operation as the method of choice in the treatment of many cases of toxic goitre. Tomorrow: "Hay Fever."

Dr. Nussey thinks that all patients suffering from toxic goitre should be treated with thiouracil. It is administered three times a day for the first three to five weeks, after which time the dose is gradually reduced, and is kept at the lowest possible level to maintain the patient's well-being.

If the patient does not respond quickly to the treatment, the dose

of thiouracil should not be increased beyond a safe limit. The patient must be kept under the constant supervision of the physician so that any reactions which may develop may be noted promptly, and the dose of the preparation reduced.

It is Dr. Nussey's opinion that treatment with thiouracil is much safer than operation and that perhaps treatment with this drug may completely supplant operation as the method of choice in the treatment of many cases of toxic goitre.

Tomorrow: "Hay Fever."

Gambling Places Are Closed, E. Liverpool Mayor Tells Lausche

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, May 4.—Gov. Frank J. Lausche met today with city officials of East Liverpool and said he told them "I expect commercial gambling, if it does exist, will be suppressed in that community and that I was especially determined that commercial racketeers not continue in their operations."
Mayor Arnold DeVon and Safety Director Vincent McGeehan came here to see the governor after the Columbus county grand jury returned 60 gambling indictments and directed that the report on prevalence of gambling be sent to the governor.
The governor quoted Mayor DeVon as saying, "since I became mayor I have been trying to drive commercial gambling places out of East Liverpool. They are closed and will remain closed."
The mayor also explained that he has only 14 police officers to patrol a city of 28,000 and that lack of manpower made law enforcement difficult.

The conference lasted approximately an hour and during that time the governor and the East Liverpool officials went over the grand jury's report item by item.
Neither DeVon nor McGeehan had any comment after the meeting.
LISBON, May 4.—Five Columbiana county men, allegedly connected directly or indirectly with gambling in East Liverpool and East Palestine, entered pleas of not guilty when arraigned before Judge Joel Sharp today.
They are:

Steve Stakis of East Liverpool, who posted $500 bond.
Charles Cannel of East Palestine who posted $500 bond.
Mike Ganas of East Liverpool who posted $500 bond on a charge of allowing a building he owns to be used for gambling purposes.
Harrison Wingrove of East Liverpool who was released with bond to be set.
Mississippi is called "The Magnolia State."

VON KLEIST GIVES UP TO AMERICANS

(By Associated Press)
WITH THE 26TH INFANTRY DIVISION, May 4.—Field Marshal Paul Ludwig Ewald Von Kleist, the man who engineered the 1940 breakthrough in France, has surrendered himself to the 26th Infantry division of the U. S. Third Army, it was announced today.
Von Kleist, commander of the Wehrmacht's "A" army group, was taken April 25 at Mitterfels, but announcement of his surrender was delayed.
Asked his views on the fate of Hitler, he replied:
"I only know what I read in the newspapers."
Von Kleist's wife was at his side when he surrendered. Also with him was his aide, Capt. Von Seydlitz.
Von Kleist handed over his baton and surrendered, in order that "I might be spared the embarrassment of being captured later in the presence of common retreating German soldiers."
The marshal's hands were shaking. In his home the soldiers found drawers filled with narcotics and hypodermic needles.

NAZI PRISONERS ONE BIG HEADACHE

Wholesale Surrender Presents No Small Feeding, Housing Problem

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, May 4.—German soldiers surrendering to American and British forces by the thousand in a panic effort to avoid falling into the hands of the Russians, have created a serious problem for Allied authorities charged with keeping them caged and fed.
Front dispatches said German soldiers and men were virtually flying each other to what they hastily consider the safety of American lines. London papers decried the British and American forces had taken so many German prisoners that Britain's facilities for feeding and housing them had become inadequate.
Associated Press War Correspondent Wes Gallagher reported from the Ninth army front on the Elbe river that the Germans were swarming across the stream, paddling in makeshift rafts or even swimming, to surrender.
"And the doughboys," Gallagher wrote, "can't do anything but accept them."
The Daily Express said more than 3,000,000 Germans had been taken prisoner since D-day and that under the original agreement Britain must look after half of them.
The paper said the British government had asked the United States to take a larger proportion of the captured Germans because all British prison camps are full and the food problem is acute.
The Express added that the U. S. government had not yet agreed to take a larger number of prisoners "because America is anxious to get its surplus troops home as speedily as possible and is unwilling to use up shipping in carrying supplies or prisoners."

NAZI PRISONERS ONE BIG HEADACHE

Wholesale Surrender Presents No Small Feeding, Housing Problem

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, May 4.—German soldiers surrendering to American and British forces by the thousand in a hasty effort to avoid falling into the hands of the Russians, have created a serious problem for Allied authorities charged with keeping them caged and fed.
Front dispatches said German officers and men were virtually starving each other to what they recently consider the safety of American lines. London papers declared the British and American armies had taken so many German prisoners that Britain's facilities for feeding and housing them had become inadequate.
Associated Press War Correspondent Wes Gallagher reported from the Ninth army front on the Elbe river that the Germans were swarming across the stream, paddling in makeshift rafts or even swimming, to surrender.
"And the doughboys," Gallagher wrote, "can't do anything but accept them."
The Daily Express said more than 3,000,000 Germans had been taken prisoner since D-day and that under the original agreement Britain must look after half of them.
The paper said the British government had asked the United States to take a larger proportion of the captured Germans because all British prison camps are full and the food problem is acute.
The Express added that the U.S. government had not yet agreed to take a larger number of prisoners "because America is anxious to get its surplus troops home as speedily as possible and is unwilling to use up shipping in carrying supplies or prisoners."

NEW YORK, May 4.—Market customers still liked peace-rated stocks today but many displayed a preference for the cashing of profits and the result was irregularity. Trends, fairly steady at the start, slipped here and there as the session proceeded. Scattered rails, aviation, farm implements and specialties were in front near the fourth hour. Losers were numerous. Dealings quickened at intervals. Ahead most of the time were Southern Pacific, Great Northern, American Airlines, Eastern Air Lines, Douglas Aircraft, International Harvester, Radio Corp., Farmworth, Montgomery Ward and International Paper.

Held In Sugar Fraud

COLUMBUS, May 4.—The district OPA yesterday filed federal grand bills of information against two Stuebenville men and a third from Pittsburgh, charging trafficking in counterfeit sugar stamps.

The information accused Jack Fineman of Stuebenville and Victor Ottenstein of Pittsburgh of transferring 500 counterfeit coupons to William W. Rainsberg of Stuebenville for 2,500 pounds of sugar. Feb. 13, Fineman and Ottenstein told the OPA they bought the coupons without knowing they were spurious.

Deming Club, Managed By Gordy Allen, Seeks Title Again

Pumpers To Begin Softball Season Minus Star Hurler, Kenny Bruderly, This Year

Despite the absence of its star hurler—Kenny Bruderly—the Deming Co. softball team promises to be in Class A softball this summer with its usual vigor.

Managed by Gordy Allen, veteran outfielder the Pump team will be composed of nearly the same personnel which last year landed in the playoffs after capturing the fourth round title.

Bruderly, winner of 12 and loser of nine games in 1944, probably will not be with the Pumpers at the start of the season, Allen said today. The speed-ball expert will undoubtedly get into play later in the season but ill-health will keep him out at the start.

Bruderly was the heaviest hitting pitcher in the league last season, with a 310 average. He was a major factor in the rise of the Deming club from the loop's cellar in the early part of the season to a round title at the finish.

Demings last season lost out in the city title series in two games at Reilly field, going down both times before the power of the nearly unbeatable Salem China.

A speedy club with a world of spirit, the Pumpers haven't lost much of their original power, with the exception of Bruderly.

Ralph Phillips will probably take over the hurling assignment until Bruderly gets in shape. Phillips is a dangerous, long hitter and a veteran at the first base post as well. He batted .250 last year.

He tosses a slow ball most of the time and looms as the league's only southpaw this season.

Lloyd Brunner (213) is slated for third base, Emmet Bruderly (203) for second and the shortstop position is still open. Sammy Roherer (167), who played that spot in 1944, is now in the Army.

Phillips will play first when Bruderly pitches and when Phillips is on the mound the job will probably go to Al Sanders (125).

Outfield veterans from last season include Bill Rich, (.264), an expert roving shortstop, Gus Bonfert (158), Glenn Whinnery (113) and several new candidates.

Bruderly and Rich were the team's leading hitters last year. The veteran roving shortstop is Salem's original "Pete Gray."

Allen has a few other player candidates yet to be assigned to playing duties. He hopes to round out the squad in practice sessions during the next week or so.

With Bruderly in the background as a possible hurler, Demings will remain a serious threat to the China's title prospects. The champions are facing stiff competition again this season, especially from the Mullins, Recreation and Demings, already tried, and the new Sinclair squad, managed by Buck Ritchie.

Prospects for the coming of the season soon are rather dim, with work at the park diamond going slowly because of weather limitations, Joe Kelley said today.

Original plans had the opening games slated for around May 14.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
NEW YORK, May 4—Now that baseball has made a happy choice of a head man, it seems time for hockey to do the same thing if it is to maintain its "major league" status. Red Dutton, who has tried to quit a half dozen times, says he means positively this summer the National league club owners claim they want a man about 40 years old who has had legal training and who knows his way around hockey. The unofficial nominee who comes closest to filling that bill is L. Comdt. Myles Lane, former Dartmouth football and hockey star who later was an assistant United States district attorney in New York. The catch, of course, is that Myles isn't a Canadian and the guys who'll pick a league president are.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
John McGill, Ashland, Ky., Independent: "Melvin Ott is said to have the New York Giants believing in themselves and we imagine that Ernie Lombardi, who beat out a hunk, has them believing in miracles."

SPORTSPOURRI
Larry MacPhail is considering twilight baseball at Yankee stadium. Well, it isn't like Larry to keep the fans in the dark. Northwest's farewell gift to Tug Wilson when he took office as Big Ten commissioner was a set of golf clubs. Was it a hint not to use a big stick?

Salem A. C. Books Game
The Salem A. C. will practice at Centennial park at 5:30 p. m. Friday for a game in Alliance Sunday. Manager Walt Mellinger said today. All players are to report to the City News and Sporting Goods store at 1 p. m. Sunday to make the trip to Alliance where Salem will oppose the Taylorcraft nine.

Unpopular Decision
AKRON, May 4—Don Morrow of Cleveland and Charlie Roth of Detroit fought to an unpopular draw decision last night in their eight-round bout at the Armory.

The Clevelander knocked Roth down eight times in the fight. Morrow weighed 131 pounds and his opponent 198.

BELL-HUNTER TOP MATCHES AT ARENA IN TITLE TOURNEY

Winner of Fight Slated To Meet Cochrane For His Crown In June

CLEVELAND, May 4—The first of a two-bout elimination tournament, designed to produce a challenger for Freddie Cochrane's welterweight title, will be held at the local arena Wednesday when Tommy Bell and Chuck Hunter, two of the hardest-hitting 147-pounders in the game today, clash in a 10-rounder that headlines a most attractive swatfest.

Jimmy Doyle, sensational Los Angeles welter and conqueror of Hunter, has already signed to meet the winner of the Bell-Hunter melee. The bout will be held at the Cleveland Stadium on June 7 and the victor of that match will be rewarded with the titular combat late in July.

The National Boxing Association, through its president, Abe J. Greene, has already put its blessing on the tourney and will recognize the survivor as the "logical and suitable opponent for Cochrane."

Will Be 3rd Meeting
Next week's tussle will mark the third meeting of Tommy and Chuck. In their first skirmish, Bell flattened Hunter in two beats. Their return match, a ding-dong affair replete with thrills, ended in a split decision being given to Bell.

Leroy Jackson, highly-touted local featherweight takes on the toughest assignment of his career in the semi-final since he will trade punches with Victory Flores, Mexican 126-pound champ who is the reigning sensation of New York rings.

Another Mexican titleholder, Nava Esparza, makes his local debut against Vic Jade, local Polish lad, in an 8-rounder. Nava, who holds the lightweight crown of Mexico, has turned in three straight kayo wins in New York. Jade, a former local Golden Glove, has never appeared here as a pro but is highly respected in eastern times.

Leo Garrett and Johnny Virgo, two glove-wielding lightweight, clash for the third time in a sixer, each holding a win over the other. Two bouts complete the card.

$100 Per Head!
CLEVELAND, May 4—The Cleveland Rams, National Professional league football team, will give any coach a $100 War bond for each tip on a player who signs with the club and plays three times.

18 TEAMS CARDED IN FOURTH AFFAIR

Cleveland E. Tech. State Champs, Among Entries With Akron Schools

When Salem High's track squad—still without a victory after three meets—enters the fourth annual Canton McKinley relays at Fawcett stadium Saturday, they will be competing against a portion of Ohio's best track material.

Eighteen schools, including Salem, have declared intentions of participating in the annually growing event and among that group are such top-notch teams as Cleveland's East Tech High school, defending state champs, and Rib Allen's Boardman crew, which appeared here last week.

Those two teams, plus Akron's North and East Highs, loom as the heavy favorites of the meet. North recently won the Akron city meet—one of northeastern Ohio's toughest—and boasts a host of top records.

Boardman, though not as star-studded as some of the other teams, presents an all-around point-getting ability that will be difficult to top. Combining the first place points of John Jardine, Tony Smith and Pole Vaulter Walters, with a collection of second and thirds, the Spartans have been untouched so far this year.

Tech Wesleyan Champs
East Tech has been beaten—in a dual meet—but came through with flying colors last week to win the tough Ohio Wesleyan relay title.

Salem's chances of coping a first in the meet are far from close, but Coach Fred Cope's outfit is counting on placing men among the top in some events.

This meet will give the Quakers a brisk workout before their all-important County meet, slated under the lights at Reilly stadium next Friday. Cope's charges will also vie in a postponed dual meet with Louisville under the lights here Tuesday.

Besides Salem and the above-mentioned teams, Warren, Struthers, Canton McKinley and Lehman, Massillon, Louisville, Alliance, Cathedral Latin, Ashland, Painesville, Niles, Tallmadge, and Akron's South and Buchtel will be in the meet.

The meet will begin at 9:30 a. m. Saturday when preliminaries or semi-finals will be staged in seven events. Competitions in the shot put, pole vault, high jump and discus will be run off in the morning.

The finals will begin at 1 p. m. in the other events, 14 of which are planned.

27 Schools In Meet
MENTOR, May 4—Twelve Class A and 15 Class B Ohio scholastic track teams will compete in the 17th Mentor relays tomorrow. The meet was cancelled last year because of war conditions. East Palestine High, which won the Class A championship in 1943, will not compete. Ash-tabula Harbor is the defending Class B champion.

Jack Barry, above, shortstop of Connie Mack's $100,000 infield of 30-odd years ago, launched his 25th season as Holy Cross coach by seeing 18-year-old southpaw freshman Jack Tivnan pitch a no-hit, no-run game repelling Charlestown, R. I., Naval Air Base, 7-0.

BOUDREAU'S DRAFT STATUS A QUESTION ONCE MORE; NOW 4-F

Rumor Has It That Tribe Pilot Is Slated For New Physical Exam

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, May 4—"Is Lou or is Lou ain't 1-A," wailed Cleveland Indians fans today.

The Tribe's manager-shortstop Lou Boudreau was reported yesterday to be 1-A and today's Cleveland Plain Dealer said he would be called for preinduction physical examination "around June 15."

But neither Boudreau's Cleveland draft board nor his wife, reached at Boudreau's Harvey, Ill., home, would confirm the reclassification report. The Plain Dealer said his status was changed in line with directive ordering review of professional athletes' classifications.

Was Dejected
The 27-year-old American league 1944 batting champion was rejected for military service and placed in 4-F last summer because of an arthritic ankle. He worked in a Harvey plant during the winter and was then assigned to 2-F classification.

Meanwhile, the Tribe arrived in Chicago today to open a four-game series with the league-leading White Sox. Probable pitchers were Left-handers Al Smith and Thornton Lee. The latter defeated the Tribe on opening day. Smith lost his first start of the season to the St. Louis Browns.

Nick Kearns, veteran Chicago basketball referee, has officiated in close to 400 Notre Dame contests.

Deming Club, Managed By Gordy Allen, Seeks Title Again

Pumpers To Begin Softball Season Minus Star Hurler, Kenny Bruderly, This Year

Despite the absence of its star hurler—Kenny Bruderly—the Deming Co. softball team promises to be in Class A softball this summer with its usual vigor.

Managed by Gordy Allen, veteran outfielder, the Pump team will be composed of nearly the same personnel which last year landed in the playoffs after capturing the fourth round title.

Bruderly, winner of 12 and loser of nine games in 1944, probably will not be with the Pumpers at the start of the season, Allen said today. The speed-ball expert will undoubtedly get into play later in the season but ill-health will keep him out at the start.

Bruderly was the heaviest hitting pitcher in the league last season, with a 310 average. He was a major factor in the rise of the Deming club from the loop's cellar in the early part of the season to a round title at the finish.

Demings last season lost out in the city title series in two games at Reilly field, going down both times before the power of the newly unbeatable Salem Chins.

A speedy club with a world of spirit, the Pumpers haven't lost much of their original power, with the exception of Bruderly.

Ralph Phillips will probably take over the hurling assignment until Bruderly gets in shape. Phillips is a dangerous, long-hitter and a veteran at the first base post as well. He batted 250 last year.

He tosses a slow ball most of the time and looms as the league's only southpaw this season.

Lloyd Brunner (213) is slated for third base, Emmet Bruderly (203) for second and the shortstop position is still open. Sammy Roherer (167), who played that spot in 1944, is now in the Army.

Phillips will play first when Bruderly pitches and when Phillips is on the mound the job will probably go to Al Sanders (125).

Outfield veterans from last season include Bill Rich, (284), an expert roving shortstop, Gus Bonfert (158), Glenn Whinnery (113) and several new candidates.

Bruderly and Rich were the team's leading hitters last year. The veteran roving shortstop is Salem's original "Pete Gray."

Allen has a few other player candidates yet to be assigned to playing duties. He hopes to round out the squad in practice sessions during the next week or so.

With Bruderly in the background as a possible hurler, Demings will remain a serious threat to the Chins' title prospects. The champions are facing stiff competition again this season, especially from the Mullins, Recreation and Demings squads, already tried, and the new Sinclair squad, managed by Buck Ritchie.

Prospects for the coming of the season soon are rather dim, with work at the park diamond going slowly because of weather limitations, Joe Kelley said today.

Original plans had the opening games slated for around May 14.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, May 4.—Now that baseball has made a happy choice of a head man, it seems time for hockey to do the same thing if it is to maintain its "major league" status. Red Dutton, who has tried to quit a half dozen times, says he means positively this summer. The National league club owners claim they want a man about 40 years old who has had legal training and who knows his way around hockey. The unofficial nominee who comes closest to filling that bill is L. C. Myles Lane, former Dartmouth football and hockey star who later was an assistant United States district attorney in New York. . . . the catch, of course, is that Myles isn't a Canadian and the guys who pick a league president are.

Unpopular Decision

AKRON, May 4.—Don Morrow of Cleveland and Charlie Roth of Detroit fought to an unpopular draw decision last night in their eight-round bout at the Armory. The Clevelander knocked Roth down eight times in the fight. Morrow weighed 131 pounds and his opponent 198.

BELL-HUNTER TOP MATCHES AT ARENA IN TITLE TOURNEY

Winner of Fight Slated To Meet Cochrane For His Crown In June

CLEVELAND, May 4.—The first of a two-bout elimination tournament, designed to produce a challenger for Freddie Cochrane's welterweight title, will be held at the local Arena Wednesday when Tommy Bell and Chuck Hunter, two of the hardest-hitting 147-pounders in the game today, clash in a 10-rounder that headlines a most attractive swatfest.

Jimmy Doyle, sensational Los Angeles welter and conqueror of Hunter, has already signed to meet the winner of the Bell-Hunter melee. The bout will be held at the Cleveland Stadium on June 7 and the victor of that match will be rewarded with the titular combat late in July.

The National Boxing Association, through its president, Abe J. Greene, has already put its blessing on the tourney and will recognize the survivor as the "logical and suitable opponent for Cochrane."

Will Be 3rd Meeting

Next week's tussle will mark the third meeting of Tommy and Chuck in their first skirmish. Bell flattened Hunter in two heats. Their return match, a ding-dong affair replete with thrills, ended in a split decision being given to Bell.

Leroy Jackson, highly-touted local featherweight takes on the toughest assignment of his career in the semi-final since he will trade punches with Victory Flores, Mexican 126-pound champ who is the reigning sensation of New York rings.

Another Mexican titleholder, Nava Esparza, makes his local debut against Vic Jade, local Polish lad, in an 8-rounder. Nava, who holds the lightweight crown of Mexico, has turned in three straight kayo wins in New York. Jade, a former local Golden Glover, has never appeared here as a pro but is highly respected in eastern times.

Leo Garrett and Johnny Virgo, two glove-wielding lightweight, clash for the third time in a sixer, each holding a win over the other. Two bouts complete the card.

Descon Bill McKeehnle of Cincinnati has been shuffling a bunch of oddities and youngsters behind Bucky Walters, Ed Heusser and Arnie Carter.

Rain washed out all six scheduled major league games yesterday.

Thousands of servicemen guests of the clubs upped the total to well over 700,000 but even this good news wasn't enough to counteract the managers' worries about double-headers piling up in the future book.

Members of the Electric Furnace Co. bowling league will hold their annual banquet at the Lake hotel Saturday, May 12, Perry Coy, league secretary, said today.

Results of the recent league playoffs, involving the three round champions, also were announced. Coy said the Shipping department team won the loop title with two wins and a tie. Second was the Office squad with a victory and two losses. The Night "A" lost three games in the playoffs.

The dinner will get under way at 6:30 p. m.

BASEBALL OFFICE TO BE RE-LOCATED

CHICAGO, May 4.—A. B. (Happy) Chandler, baseball commissioner-elect, said today the office of baseball commissioner will be moved from Chicago to Cincinnati.

He said the present office of the late commissioner, K. M. Landis, would be maintained here temporarily, but that his office would be set up soon in Cincinnati, probably at the Netherland Plaza hotel.

Chandler in Chicago To Check New Office, Cubs

CHICAGO, May 4.—Senator A. B. (Happy) Chandler came to Chicago today to look over the headquarters of his office as baseball commissioner and probably see his first National league game since his appointment last week.

The commissioner-elect was to hold a press conference and later meet with Leslie M. O'Connor, secretary to the late Commissioner K. M. Landis. The Cubs are scheduled to play Cincinnati in the second of a two-game series. The opener was rained out yesterday.

THE AMERICAN HOUSE

By Virginia Chase

THE expedition to the hill had originated with Lem Gott, who had chosen the spot, presumably, for convenient ascension into heaven. Once the word had got around, others decided it would be just the place for a good view—not only of the comet, but incidentally of Lem, making his preparations. Finally half the town agreed to go. The bold regarded it as an outing. The timid were not willing to be left behind. There would be plenty of fresh air on the hill, they said, just in case.

My father approved of the expedition. Comets didn't come very often—he appeared thankful for it—and this was a good time to clear up a lot of nonsense about them. If people were together, he said, a few couldn't start a lot of foolish stories. He would go himself. Benjamin would drive all of us to the foot of the hill.

That morning Benjamin hauled his last load of gravel. When he came in for dinner, Mrs. Gupilli was ready for him. He had promised to change the stove. Well, he could do it that very afternoon before he got tied up with something else. She started out again about her job.

He'd do it, Benjamin said. He wasn't one to go back on his word. But it would take two men for lifting. Boshy was no good. He was shaking so much now he couldn't lift a feather. They would have to wait for Jay.

Now that spring had come Jay was on an earlier schedule. He came in at 6, and he and Benjamin changed the stove at once. He was just finishing his supper when I went down into the kitchen to tell them that the teams were almost ready.

"I'm not going," Mrs. Gupilli said. "It's Wednesday, and I've got my bread to bake."

"Course you're going," Jay told her. "Your bread can bake without you hangin' over it. I'll come back myself and take it out in an hour."

At first she wouldn't hear if it. Other people could go gallivanting off to mountain tops, she said. She could hear the Town Clock strike 9 from where she was.

Jay winked at me. "I believe she wants to be left alone with Mr. Cutter," he said slyly.

That settled it. She went off for her coat, leaving Jay to build the fire. He crammed the stove with excelsior, put in some edgings and opened the draft. "You go outside," he told me. "I'll stay here to shut it up when it gets going."

At 7 o'clock we started off nine of us, filling a backward and a sarge. On the way we passed groups of people on foot. The Pettigrews, The Bowdens, The Sawyers, The Giddings boys.

"Give us a ride," they called out, laughing.

At the foot of the hill a number of teams were already standing. Benjamin tied the span, and we started up the narrow, winding path that led along the side to the top. Trees cut out any real view to the sky. It was still dusk.

"Seen anything yet?" we called to those ahead.

"Not yet."

I hurried to catch up with Benjamin. "Think, Benjamin," I said soberly. "I may never see you again."

He laughed and took my hand. "I wouldn't count on that," he said. "Come on, let's keep our eyes open for Lem."

We found him at the very top of the hill, surrounded by an interested group of spectators. (No one was bold enough to laugh at him then.) They would wait until 9 o'clock for that. He was dressed in his best suit and reading aloud from the 12th chapter of Revelation. Every few minutes he would stop, look at his watch, and call out the time in a very loud voice.

"Half past 7. Just an hour and a half more to repent in!"

"Twenty minutes to 8. Just an hour and 20 minutes more!"

A few small groups stood apart, scanning the west. Mr. Havens was in one of them, offering comfort to Lily Penicenter, who had brought wet towels to protect her from breathing in the gases. In another Mr. McKinley, the principal of the Academy, was giving instructions to some of his students. "First find Regulus, at the end of the sickle. Sue and my father—keeping a tight hold on Boshy—joined them. Ada sat indifferently on a rock. My mother and Mrs. Gupilli stood admiring the view.

In the west the last of the sunset had colored Wood's Pond a bright crimson. Ducks made dark lines against the sky. Frogs sounded like sleighbells. Now and then you could hear a loon crying.

Benjamin and I walked on. Just over the crest we came upon Jay and Julia, setting up the bottles.

"Land, I used to have notions myself," Jay was saying.

"Seen anything?"

"Not yet."

I had seen something, not in the west at all, but in the south, where the village lay. It came again—a long, red tail of flame.

"Look! the comet!"

They looked.

"That's no comet," Benjamin said. "That's a fire!"

"It's high," Jay broke in. "Do you finger?"

"That's just what I was fingerin'."

It was the American House.

It's mighty disillusioning, Professor, and we sympathize with you, but you might as well face the facts. "Half past 7. Just an hour and a half more to repent in!"

"Twenty minutes to 8. Just an hour and 20 minutes more!"

A few small groups stood apart, scanning the west. Mr. Havens was in one of them, offering comfort to Lily Poindexter, who had brought wet towels to protect her from breathing in the gases. In another Mr. McKinley, the principal of the Academy, was giving instructions to some of his students. "First find Regulus, at the end of the sickle," Sus and my father—keeping a tight hold on Boshy—joined them. Ada sat indifferently on a rock. My mother and Mrs. Guptill stood admiring the view.

In the west the last of the sunset had colored Wood's Pond a bright crimson. Ducks made dark lines against the sky. Frogs sounded like sleighbells. Now and then you could hear a loon crying.

Benjamin and I walked on. Just over the crest we came upon Jay and Julia, setting up the bottles. "Land, I used to have notions myself," Jay was saying.

"Seen anything?"

"Not yet."

I had seen something, not in the west at all, but in the south, where the village lay. It came again—a long, red tail of flame.

"Look! the comet!"

They looked.

"That's no comet," Benjamin said. "That's a fire!"

"It's high," Jay broke in. "Do you figger...."

"That's just what I was figgerin'."

It was the American House.

Miss Margaret Seitz of Alliance

"Now she's giving him toasted Bond Wheat Bread! She never did that for me!"

It's mighty disillusioning, Professor, and we sympathize with you, but you might as well face the facts. If she thinks enough of your hated rival to serve him her favorite bread, it looks like you're out! But don't take it too hard. At least, if you can't have both her and Bond Wheat Bread, you can still have Bond Wheat Bread—so life is still worth living! Bond Wheat Bread is specially baked to give you all the "angel food" softness, and tender goodness of your favorite white bread—plus the extra nutrition and the fuller flavor that can come only from the whole grain, the complete, whole kernels of golden, sun-ripened wheat. Reach for Bond Wheat Bread next time!
